

GENERAL DYNAMICS

General Dynamics has leading market positions in business aviation, information systems, shipbuilding and marine systems, and land and amphibious combat systems. The company is a leading supplier of sophisticated defense systems to the United States and its allies

October 23, 2001 10:15 AM

Attn: Scott Kube
Sales Manager
SoftTech Solutions

To All,

This is a product that I purchased for all the GD techs that support Marine Corps Systems and the feedback I have received from the techs is that this product is the best thing they have seen since ice tea.

For Field Service Technicians, On-Line! Detective provides the means of accessing critical information in seconds and resolving hardware problems in minutes. This diagnostic support tool allows techs to pinpoint problems before opening the chassis.

For System Administrator's the On-Line! Detective for Sun provides critical information concerning the hardware and operating system specifically designed for system administrators. The Detective offers a Solaris mode that offers solutions for system crashes, Solaris troubleshooting, components configuration, disk array and raid device set ups, upgrade an OS and much more. The Detective gives diagnostic support to determine hardware, Solaris, or network problems.

Your Friendly Outside Contractor,

Vern Hughes
Deputy Program Manager
General Dynamics

